International returns MUST specify clearly on the shipping paperwork that the contents are "Made in the U.S.A. Returning to manufacturer for evaluation/repair." This information will minimize any possible customs issues or delays.

If you are aware of any specific customs requirements that we need to meet for the return shipment to you, please be sure to notify us in advance. This may include specific verbiage required on a package or whether a specific courier or broker should be used for the return shipment.

We recommend using a carrier such as UPS, FedEx, or DHL, and suggest forwarding the tracking number to us by email. The tags should be carefully packaged, insured, and shipped to:
